South Carolina Horsemen's Council Equine Expo/Annual Business Meeting

The South Carolina Horsemen's Council is hosting an Equine Exposition in conjunction with its Annual Business Meeting on Saturday, February 7, at the Circle M Ranch in Pelzer.

The event will highlight the involvement of young equestrians. Several demos and exhibitions will be offered for education and entertainment. A Parade of Breeds will feature many different equine from miniature mules and horses to pleasure and draft horses. Exhibitions and demonstrations will be provided by drill teams, mounted shooters, and trainers such as Mike Kinsey presenting "Start 'em Right" and Charlotte Cannon with "Parelli for Kids." Numerous vendors from horse trailers to clothing and tack will be on site. A silent auction and a used tack sale will be held with all proceeds going to the SCHC youth scholarship fund.

The public is invited. Admission will be $5 per person. Members of the SCHC and children age six and under will be admitted free.

The doors open at 8:30 a.m. and activities will continue until approximately 5 p.m. The event will be held in the climate-controlled indoor arena at Circle M Ranch located at 186 Woodville Road, Pelzer, SC.

For directions or more information, call Merry Worsham, 864-243-0099 or visit www.thecirclemranh.com or contact Kaye Watkins, Expo Chairman, at kayehtsvll@aol.com, 843-339-2903.

The South Carolina Horsemen's Council is a non-profit organization whose primary purpose is to educate members, the general public, and government officials about equestrian activities and their numerous benefits. The Council includes people with a variety of interests such as showing, trail riding, breeding, racing, driving and other aspects of the equine industry.

For more information on the SC Horsemen's Council, call 803-328-8450, or email schorsecouncil1@aol.com, or visit www.schorsecouncil.org.

Beekeeping Short Course

Veteran beekeepers, beginners, and prospective beekeepers are invited to participate in an "Introduction to Beekeeping" short course presented by the Lakelands Beekeepers Association and Clemson Extension Service at the Greenwood County Tennis Center in Greenwood.

The short course, designed primarily for hobby beekeepers, will be taught on Tuesday nights from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., February 3 through March 17, 2009. A field day at a local bee yard and practical test will conclude the course on Saturday, March 28.

Topics to be covered include: honeybee biology, beekeeping equipment, managing honeybees, nectar sources, insects and diseases affecting the honeybee, and processing honey. Speakers will be Dr. Mike Hood, Clemson University honeybee specialist, journeyman beekeepers and local experienced beekeepers.

Registration fee for the course is $45, which includes reference books, hand-out materials, and a one-year complimentary membership in the Lakelands Beekeepers Association. Registration deadline is Friday, January 23.

For more information or to request a registration form, contact Wallace Wood, County Extension Agent, wwd@clemson.edu or call 864-465-2112, ext. 112

Holiday Observations

Normally, reading this column should enhance your knowledge of agriculture in South Carolina or something about your Department of Agriculture. Today's column you get a break. Over the Holidays I had the occasion for several experiences, observations and/or conversations that stuck with me. And I want to take the privilege to share them with you. In no particular order, over the Holidays I observed:

- The Boykin Christmas parade has returned after a one-year hiatus. And it's as much fun as ever. One of the highlights was a small cart being pulled with an outhouse on it. It was labeled as the local bank's boardroom. Guess that bank won't be getting a bailout. As always, I recommend the Boykin parade for a fun family outing.

- Speaking of bailout, one of my more interesting observations was in a conversation with our seventeen-year-old son Julius. Riding home from celebrating Christmas with Blanche's family, we got into a discussion about all the bailouts coming out of Washington. After my thorough explanation, which included pointing out that his generation would be paying the bill for these bailouts for years to come, his reaction was basically, "Wait a minute, nobody asked me if I wanted to pay for this!" Made me realize a couple of things-that we have an obligation to manage as best we can to leave a better environment, economy, and opportunity for the next generation. I'd say we have a way to go after 2008 and all its developments.

Commissioner Weathers, along with his sons Gill, Edward and Julius, join Johney Haralson and Haden Smith on a quail hunting trip outside of the town of Denmark during the Holidays.

• There's no better place to be on Christmas Eve than at a candlelight ceremony in church. After communion we light each other's candles starting from one of the advent candles. From the pulpit I led in the singing of Silent Night. It is a real Christmas card scene to see all the faces lit by candlelight. More and more folks in Bowman must agree because we had to have an emergency refill of grape juice for folks taking communion.

• Kayaks can be less than stable-even in a swimming pool. Blanche and the boys gave me a kayak for Christmas. With a seventy degree day, naturally we decided try out the kayak in the pool. I did a couple a rounds in the pool as did Edward. Gill was next. With his brothers "helping" we watched how you get out of a kayak real fast after it has turned over. I only regret we didn't have a camera to catch the look on Gill's face coming out of that cold water.

• It is very gratifying to give a gift that surprises. Blanche and I decided at the last minute to send some money to the missionary family in Mexico where Edward worked last summer for a couple of weeks. We learned later that they were able to use the help to pay for their children to come home from school for Christmas. I would imagine most of us have a story that reinforces this feeling.

• That my three sons can all out shoot me... The four of us had a great outing the day after Christmas on a quail hunt with Johney Haralson in Denmark. Johney and his son-in-law Haden Smith worked to make a great day for us. They take a lot of pride in their operation, and there're not too many things better than watching a good bird dog work. On the shooting results, if we had depended on my success, we would have had quail as an appetizer instead of the main course that night for supper.

• If you're going to spend part of your New Year's Day watching South Carolina football teams in bowl games, have a backup plan to occupy your time. After watching Carolina's second or third - I forget - turnover, I headed to the pond to help clean up for a pig picking we had planned for Saturday. I did make it back in time to see Clemson almost pull it out in their game.

• Over-emphasis on tourism dollars is dangerous for an economy. I had to go New Orleans the week before Christmas to visit our Southern United States Trade Association office. It was pointed out to me that, because of Hurricane Katrina three years ago, their convention meeting tourist trade will have a hard time ever reaching the heights it once had. There's a message for South Carolina in this-agriculture needs to be promoted on a scale comparable to tourism.

I hope you found experiences you could relate to in these observations. We'll get back to some agricultural issues or some Department activities in the next issue. In the meanwhile, Happy 2009 and so long 2008.

Hugh E. Weathers, Commissioner

Peanut growers invited to annual meeting in Orangeburg

All peanut growers are invited to attend the annual State Peanut Meeting from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Thursday, January 29, at the First Baptist Church Family Life Center, Hwy. 21 North, in Orangeburg.

During the day-long meeting, there will be several programs of interest to peanut growers including Clemson Research Results from 2008, High Levels of Disease Resistance Found in Virginia-Type Peanuts. Performance of Released Runners and Virginias - Best Bets for 2009, and Fungicide Program Performance - Getting the Most Bang for Buck.

Guest speakers scheduled are Dr. Tim Brenneman, University of Georgia Peanut Research / Extension Plant Pathologist discussing CBR Management and Night Fungicide Spraying. Mr. Tyron Spearman of the Spearman Agency in Tifton, Ga. will host an update on National Peanut Politics and Markets. Followed by Mr. Dell Cotton, Director of the Peanut Growers' Cooperative Marketing Association in Suffolk, Va. discussing market outlook for Virginia Type Peanuts in 2009, and a representative from Santee Cooper Marketing Policy for Gypsum.

For more information, call Jay Chapin,803-284-3343, jchapin@clemson.edu. For more information about South Carolina’s peanut industry contact Brad Boozer, 803-734-2225.

Biscuit Topped Pork Pie

4 boneless pork chops, cut into 3/4-inch cubes	1 14 1/2-ounce can chicken broth
1 teaspoon olive oil	1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained
1 23-ounce jar creamy mushroom cooking sauce for chicken	1 1/2 teaspoons dried oregano
1 16-ounce package frozen peas, potatoes, carrots (New England blend)	1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
	1 10.8-ounce package (5) refrigerated large biscuits

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. In large nonstick skillet brown pork cubes in oil over medium-high heat, 2-3 minutes. Transfer pork to a 5-quart casserole; stir mushroom cooking sauce, frozen vegetables, chicken broth, mushrooms, oregano and pepper. Cover and bake for 45-50 minutes, or until vegetables are tender. Remove from oven; uncover and arrange biscuits atop. Return to oven and bake, uncovered, for 12-15 minutes, until biscuits are golden. Serves 5.
